

What is NAWIC?

National Association of Women in Construction

Our Mission

To strengthen and amplify the success of women in the construction industry.

What We Do

- Professional Development: Workshops, leadership roles, certifications, and national conferences to help women grow.
- Networking & Mentorship: A supportive community across trades, companies, and regions.
- Advocacy & Awareness: Raising the visibility of women's impact in construction and expanding pathways for future generations.
- Education & Outreach: Career fairs, student chapters, and partnerships that connect women of all ages to construction careers.

Who We Serve

NAWIC is open to all women working in or allied with the construction industry—including general contractors, tradeswomen, engineers, estimators, project managers, architects, suppliers, HR professionals, accountants, and more.

Why It Matters

In an industry where women still make up less than 11% of the workforce, NAWIC provides connection, visibility, and the tools to thrive. Whether you're a seasoned professional or just starting out, NAWIC is here to help you build your future.
